

Council finances take a hit after scheme introduced

FREE PARKING AT COST – OF £500K

By Richard Guttridge

DUDLEY Council's finances have taken a half-a-million pound hit following the introduction of free parking.

Figures show the authority's earnings plunged from around £1.27 million to £725,000 in the space of a year.

Borough leaders introduced two hours' free parking on council-run car parks in a bid to bring more shoppers into town centres and boost businesses. But the move has seen the authority lose out on a substantial chunk of cash.

Figures released following a Freedom of Information request by the Chronicle's sister publication The Express & Star showed the authority made £725,974 from parking charges in 2017/18 – down from £1,276,765 the previous year and £1,329,990 in 2015/16. Money made from parking fines dropped during the 12-month period. The council made £439,568 from penalty charge notices in 2017/18 compared to £543,892 in 2016/17.

Publicity

Bosses at the Conservative-controlled council accepted they would take a hit financially when launching the offer but insisted it was the right thing to do for shoppers and businesses. However, the move was labelled a 'publicity stunt' by opposition councillor Hilary Bills.

The top streets, where drivers are most likely to be fined, were also revealed with Castle Street in Dudley the borough's parking fine hotspot. Next was High Street, Dudley, followed by High Street, Stourbridge, High Street, Pensnett and Stone Street, Dudley.

Council leader Patrick Harley said: "The free parking has reduced income to the council. However introducing free parking was about increasing footfall and boosting trade for our local town centres to help them thrive and not use the motorist as a cash cow."

"We are the only council in the West Midlands to introduce such a scheme, it has been hugely welcomed by both traders and shoppers and we firmly believe it will help to rejuvenate our much-loved high streets."

"I would always advise shoppers wanting longer stays to make use of the two hours' free parking at our town centre car parks. Parking restrictions serve an important purpose in ensuring our roads are safe and free flowing."

NEXT BIG STEP TO BOOST SHOPPING CENTRE

Shoppers mill around the Next store at intu Merry Hill ready for its opening on Tuesday

RETAIL giant Next has opened one of its largest UK stores at the intu Merry Hill Centre.

Queues formed outside the 75,680 sq ft store ahead of the opening on Tuesday.

Shoppers got their first glimpse inside when it opened its doors at 10am. The store, housing a Lipsy, homeware department and a Costa Coffee, takes the place of the former Sainsbury's site. Next confirmed all staff from their previous two stores at Merry Hill have been transferred to the new retail outlet with a further nine new jobs being created.

Its unveiling comes as part of intu's commitment to invest more than £100 million into the shopping centre.

Dan Murphy, regional centre director at intu Merry Hill, said: "We are passionate about making intu Merry Hill the best it can be and the opening of this flagship Next store allows us to provide shoppers with an even better experience when they come through our doors."

Council bosses say they hope the development will help to increase the retail centre's footfall. Brierley Hill ward councillor Zafar Islam said: "Hopefully Next will provide some more jobs and hopefully it will bring some customers into Brierley Hill and more people to Merry Hill."

COURT

Driver admits to causing Ellie death

A MOTORIST has admitted causing the death of a young woman who fell from the bonnet of his car as he drove around a supermarket car park.

Ellie Underhill, aged 20, of Shearwater Drive, Brierey Hill, lost her fight for life eight days after the fall from a moving silver Corsa outside the Tesco Extra store in Burnt Tree, Dudley, on Boxing Day 2016.

Luke Hickman, of Wasell Road, Wollescote, Stourbridge, had been accused of her manslaughter but the Crown Prosecution Service has now agreed to allow the charge to lie on file. The 19-year-old also pleaded guilty to dangerous driving a few days later, and to perverting the course of justice.

The police were not made aware of the incident until a week later on the victim's death in Russells Hall Hospital from head injuries.

Three others – 21-year-old Ross Bingham, of Hagley Road, Edgbaston, Elly Phillips, of Seymour Road, Wollescote and Hana Edwards, of Grove Road, Wollescote, both 19 – have admitted conspiracy to pervert the course of justice and were due to be sentenced at Stoke-on-Trent Crown Court on Tuesday.

A family tribute described Ellie as 'a bubbly, lively girl'.

Peek behind scenes for would-be nurses

Lead nurse Sarah Gregory, recruitment and retention lead Kerrie Walters and lead nurse Rebecca Davies at Russells Hall Hospital

ASPIRING nurses can take a glimpse at what the job entails by going behind the scenes of Russells Hall Hospital.

The Dudley hospital is looking for experienced as well as newly registered and student nurses to take on a variety of band five vacancies within the emergency department and coronary care unit.

There are also vascular, medical and surgical vacancies.

The Dudley Group NHS Foundation Trust are holding a series of recruitment days, with the next one taking place in September 19. Interviews and conditional offers will be given on the day.

A Dudley Group NHS Foundation Trust spokesman said: "We are looking for experienced and newly registered nurses to work at our trust."

"Tours of our wards and departments will be available as well as free car parking and refreshments."

Registration will begin at 4pm in the clinical education centre on the first floor in the south block of the hospital. The event is due to last around three hours.

Kerrie Walters, recruitment and retention lead, said: "We regularly hold these events as they give people the opportunity to come and see what it is like to work at the trust and to hear first-hand about everything we have in place to support and develop our staff."

To discuss nursing opportunities at the trust contact Kerrie on 01384 456111 extension 3083, or email Kerrie.walters@nhs.net

Surge in call-outs for air ambulance crew

We are family – says TV medic

Laura Hickman, left, and Jo Stevens, who cover the Dudley area, and feature in the new series

THE Midlands Air Ambulance attended 23 per cent more missions in the last year, than in the previous year, as well as attending its 50,000th mission in March.

Trauma and accidental incidents rose overall, reaching 1,749, of which 736 were road crashes.

Vehicle collisions were up 20 per cent compared to 2016/17 and the increase in incidents has prompted a call for more support for the service which does not receive any government funding.

Stabbings and violent crime were also responsible for the rise in call-outs – accounting for almost seven per cent of missions throughout the year.

Motorcyclists and horse riders are among the most common victims in need of assistance from air ambulance crews. On average, the Midlands Air Ambulance, which is based at Cosford, near Wolverhampton, now airlifts a biker every three days, and a horse rider every four days.

Support

And with call-outs rising by nearly a quarter, leaders say the need for the public's support is greater than ever.

Ian Roberts, air operations manager for Midlands Air Ambulance Charity, said: "It's clear from these statistics that the need for the support of the critical care paramedics and doctors on board our helicopters is higher than ever, which is why we are constantly looking to improve our operational and clinical services to ensure we can keep saving lives every day."

"The skilled aircrew, together with state-of-the-art equipment and helicopters, ensure a patient's chances of survival are vastly increased, but in order to stay operational we need to raise in excess of £9 million each year."

"Thankfully, the general public and local businesses across the six counties we cover do an amazing job every year to raise funds for the charity."

A DOCUMENTARY capturing the real-life action of the West Midlands Ambulance Service is back on our TV screens.

Inside the Ambulance is filmed in Dudley and Willenhall by the ambulance crews themselves, using GoPro cameras mounted to crew members and throughout their ambulances so viewers can get a unique perspective of their work.

The 10-episode series, airing on digital TV channel W began on Monday, and features the crews' response to medical emergencies, as well as a number of lighter moments.

Paramedic Laura Hickman, who has featured on the show since the second series, said: "I think it's great, it's a real eye-opener on the different types of jobs we go on on a daily basis. A lot of us do four 12-hour shifts a week so we are a real family."

The documentary shines a light on the trials and tribulations of the ambulance service, Mrs Hickman added: "It's a great show, it shows we are human, some people think we are robotic but we are human. Some jobs affect us but we keep smiling away."

Disqualified driver jailed after hitting pedestrian

A MAN has been jailed for 14 months after admitting causing serious injury to a woman when driving while disqualified.

Wolverhampton Crown Court heard Brodwen Partridge was badly hurt following a collision with a Vauxhall Zafira driven by Wayne Gloster in Bunn Lane, Dudley, on November 24 last year.

The victim suffered two fractures, including one to her pelvis, and she was in a wheelchair for a few months.

Gloster, 43, of French Road, Dudley, also admitted having no insurance and failing to stop at an earlier hearing.

Prosecuting, Sati Ruck, said: "The victim stepped into the road and got about halfway when she was hit by the car."

"The defendant got out of the vehicle and approached her, before driving off. A witness followed the defendant to a driveway, where he was in a property shouting for a pillow for the victim."

"The witness offered him a lift back, but he said he would walk, but was not seen again."

Defending, Steven Bailey, said: "This is not a man hiding from responsibility of what he has done."

Judge Dean Kershaw sentenced him to 14 months in prison for causing serious injury whilst driving disqualified. He was sentenced for five months for driving while disqualified, to run concurrently, and banned from driving for 67 months.

Last-gasp buyer for Poundworld

POUNDWORLD has been rescued in a last-minute deal – but only a small number of stores are expected to be saved.

Dublin retailing family, the Hendersons, who opened Ireland's original Poundworld store in 1984, have agreed a bid for the UK firm. All of Poundworld's stores are now closed as planned but the family will begin to reopen some after the deal is rubber-stamped. It is not yet known if any of those in the Midlands are affected by the deal.

Branches in Merry Hill, Bloxwich and West Bromwich were in the first round of closures. The remaining shops in the Black Country include two in Wolverhampton, in the Mander Centre and on Birmingham Road, as well as a branch on the Reedswood Retail Park in Walsall.

Park scheme 'yes'

A NEW classroom facility and climbing wall will be built at Baggeridge Country Park, after new plans were approved.

The plans for the park off Fir Street, in Gospel End, near Sedgley, also include an attached canopy for the classroom, outdoor shelter and storage containers.

Merged taxi 'super firm' recruiting 100 drivers

NEW taxi drivers are urgently needed across the Black Country as two companies prepare to merge in a bid to take on Uber.

The firms, 24 7 Cars and ABC Cars, plan to create a 'super firm' of 700 taxis.

Company director of 24 7, Shahzad Ali, said there was a 'greater need and demand' for efficient and reliable taxi service across the Black Country. He said: "Taxi drivers play a fundamental role in their community, they take the public to hospital appointments, school runs and everything in-between. It is a rewarding."

Demand

"As a company, we are investing in the training and development of our drivers and are striving to achieve professional levels. We have also invested in our customer service centre and technology systems to achieve and deliver a world-class service.

"We are currently doing about 50,000 journeys a week all around the West Midlands. There is enough demand to double that if we get enough drivers."

24 7 Cars is currently an independently-owned company. But if it merges with ABC Cars, the firm would operate under a new name and base, serving Willenhall, Darlaston, Bilston, Wolverhampton, Bloxwich and Walsall.

Chamber's advice on Iran sanctions

THE Black Country's biggest business organisation is urging companies worried about new Iran trade sanctions to get in touch for crucial advice.

In the wake of the US re-imposing sanctions, the Black Country Chamber of Commerce is warning affected businesses to contact the organisation before taking any further action.

On Tuesday, President Trump announced he would re-impose a trade embargo on Iran after withdrawing from a 2015 deal that lifted sanctions in return for a halt on Iran's nuclear programme.

Any firm affected by the sanctions or seeking information can contact Gerald La Touche, International trade adviser at the chamber, on 01902 912318.

Relatives sought

Comic boosts funeral funds appeal

THOUSANDS of pounds have been donated to pay for the funeral costs of a much-loved teenager who died after a swimming tragedy while on holiday.

Following the intervention of comedian Jason Manford, the online fundraiser for 16-year-old Blake Ward, from Dudley, has reached in excess of £12,000, more than double its initial £5,000 target.

The comic, who heads a group of anonymous donors dubbed the Charity Ninjas, shared the story of the Hillcrest School and Community College student's death on his Facebook page.

Before the comedian became involved, the total on the GoFundMe page was at £1,860, but has since shot up to a total of £12,268.

One of the biggest donations has come from the Year 11 pupil's former school friends who organised a charity football match at The Portway in Oldbury.

Scores of people attended – including one of Blake's teachers, who interrupted a family holiday to be there.

The match realised £943 through a bucket collection, tombola and cake sale.

His girlfriend Stephanie Ray, who set up the GoFundMe page, said: "I'm just speechless, I can't thank you all enough. It's brought me to tears to see so many people come and watch the match."

The teenager, who had moved to live in Wolverhampton six months ago, died in hospital four days after being rescued from the sea at Tywyn North beach, west Wales, after getting into difficulties.

Blake's sister Libbie Sullivan also set up the GoFundMe page with the aim of raising £5,000 for his funeral. The excess cash will be donated to the air ambulance and sea rescue charities. Last Wednesday, family and friends gathered at Green Park, Kates Hill, Dudley, where Blake used to play football, for a balloon release in celebration of his life.

Hillcrest School principal April Garratt said: "Blake was a wonderful young man. It is such a tragedy when a young life is taken especially in these circumstances."

She said that staff would be on hand to support pupils on August 23 when they turned up to collect their GCSE results.

Labour leader Corbyn: Austin must face probe

LABOUR leader Jeremy Corbyn has called for an investigation MP Ian Austin to be dealt with as quickly as possible – but refused to back his deputy Tom Watson in calling for the inquiry to be dropped.

Dudley North MP Mr Austin is facing possible suspension from the party after an internal inquiry was launched into his behaviour during a heated argument with chairman Ian Lavery over tackling anti-semitism.

The investigation should be dropped, according to West Bromwich East MP Mr Watson, who has said the party will be unfit for government if urgent action is not taken to deal with the issue.

But Mr Corbyn, on a visit to Walsall, said: "A complaint has been received, it is being investigated and I think it should be left to be investigated and dealt with, but hopefully as quickly as possible. I don't want these things hanging around."

Conduct

An internal inquiry into Labour MP Margaret Hodge – launched by the party after she called Mr Corbyn 'an antisemite and a racist' in the House of Commons – was dropped. Her comments were made after the party introduced a new code of conduct adopted from the International Holocaust Remembrance Alliance, which excluded several examples.

A review of the code is now being carried out. Last week, Mr Watson said the ongoing arguments over anti-semitism within the party will mean it will 'disappear into a vortex of eternal shame and embarrassment' if they were not ended.

Mr Corbyn said: "I want us to move on and want us to be in a place where the party is quite clear we don't accept anti-semitism in any form whatsoever."

"I don't want cases hanging around. If an objection or complaint is made it should be investigated quickly from the point of view of those who made the complaint and those subject of the complaint."

A wide range of public and voluntary organisations set up information stands with details on available services in the local area.

Councillor Bill Gavan, Sandwell Council's cabinet member for leisure, said: "This long-established community event is always a highlight in the events calendar."

The fun day was organised by the Bangladeshi Women's Association (BWA) in partnership with Sandwell Council, Big Lottery Fund and supported by partners including the police, Tipton Development Group, Friends of the Victoria Park and others.

COUNTY NEWS

Number of weekly pub closures static

THE number of pubs closing every week has remained at around 18 amid evidence that more people are choosing to drink at home, according to a new report.

There were 476 closures in the first six months of the year across the UK, 13 more than in the last six months of 2017, said the Campaign for Real Ale (Camra).

There were more than 60 pub closures a week in the North West and South East this year, with more than 50 in Greater London and the South West. Camra also reported that four out of five people had experienced a local pub closure in the past five years.

Most positive over dealings with GP

MOST patients are positive about their GP experience, a survey of almost 760,000 people has found.

Almost half of respondents described their overall experience of their practice as very good, while 37.6 per cent said it was fairly good.

Two thirds of patients who asked for a same-day appointment got one, the GP Patient Survey 2018 found, and 61.6 per cent managed to see their GP when they wanted or sooner.

However, around a third of patients who wanted to see a GP but found their practice was closed said they ended up going to A&E.

House price rise bucks forecasts

HOUSE prices grew faster than expected in July, hitting a record high as pressure on household finances begins to ease, according to Halifax.

The annual pace of house price growth rose 3.3 per cent, smashing economists' forecasts for a 2.6 per cent increase, and helping average prices hit a new record high of £230,280.

The figure compares with the 1.8 per cent rise recorded in June and represents the largest increase since last November.

Shortage of skilled workers now worse

THE shortage of skilled workers is getting worse, with most organisations now having problems recruiting suitably qualified staff.

The recruitment process is also taking longer, making it more expensive for firms to hire employees, say the Open University. Three out of five business leaders believe skills shortages have worsened over the past year.

Institute HQ moves to training centre

THE Institute of Cast Metal Engineers has moved its headquarters to the new National Foundry Training Centre in Dudley Port, Tipton.

The ICME is the professional body for people involved in the casting, foundry pattern-making and associated industries.

The National Foundry Training Centre is one of the Elite Centre for Manufacturing Skills 'spokes' which recently opened adjacent to one of the Thomas Dudley foundry sites. The ECMS is a new employer-led training facility for the Black Country, designed to enhance productivity by providing specialist training and helping to close skills gaps identified by employers.

The project is a £12 million collaboration between the Black Country Local Enterprise Partnership, University of Wolverhampton, Dudley College, Cast Metals Federation, Confederation of British Metal-forming and the ICME.

The ECMS Hub will be based at the university's £100 million Springfield Campus and will deliver skills training through short courses and apprenticeships at three spoke locations – Tipton, Aldridge and Dudley. Trevor Ayre, national president of ICME, said: "It's an ideal base for ICME to be located – we now have a facility that feels like the centre of the UK foundry industry and a place where members and students can have access to specialised training facilities."

Ian Fitzpatrick, chief executive at the Elite Centre for Manufacturing Skills, added: "We are delighted to welcome ICME to its new home at the National Foundry Training Centre."

Getting tough on bikers who rip up green spaces

Report by Megan Archer

COUNCIL chiefs are slamming the brakes on motorbikes and quad bikes being driven irresponsibly on green spaces in Dudley.

Dudley Council are implementing a Public Spaces Protection Order (PSPO) across the borough.

The order will now give police and local authority officers more powers to tackle what has become a growing problem. It comes after numerous complaints from residents about noise nuisance, damage to land and fear of injury.

Councillor Karen Shakespeare, cabinet member for environmental services, said: "We have received a very positive response from our consultation and we now intend to implement the order. Our message is clear, we will not tolerate anti-social behaviour on our green spaces."

Tranquillity

"This initiative gives the police and council officers new enforcement powers to crack down on people who spoil the tranquillity of green spaces and risk the safety of others by irresponsibly using motor vehicles."

Problems have been reported at Fens Pool Nature Reserve, Mullet Park, Barrow Hill Nature Reserve, Russells Hall, Buckpool Nature Reserve, Woodside Park and Marsh Park. Other areas covered by the PSPO include green spaces at Milking Bank, Pensnett Technical College, Lapwood Avenue/Ketley Fields, and Pheasant Street will also be covered.

The order will give police and authorised council officers the power to issue fines of up to £100 for those caught using an unauthorised motorised vehicle on the named areas. Failure to pay may lead to prosecution and a fine of up to £1,000. The vehicles could also be confiscated.

To report an incident contact Dudley Council Plus on 0300 555 2345.

Zoo in hot pursuit of Sandy Claus

Assistant curator Jay Haywood launches Dudley Zoo's search for the perfect Father Christmas

IT might be the height of the summer holidays – but bosses at Dudley Zoo are already in hot pursuit of Father Christmas.

The zoo has launched its search for a Santa to star in the busy Winter Wonderland grotto from December 1 to 24.

Andrea Hales, marketing manager at Dudley Zoological Gardens, said: "Although it's still sunny August, we're launching a summer search for a Santa to join our hugely popular grotto. We'll supply the uniform but it would be wonderful if he had his own white beard."

Interested Santas – with or without beards – should apply before August 31, and include a CV and any festive photos if they have taken on the role previously.

Applications can be sent to marketing@dudleyzoo.org.uk or Marketing Department, Dudley Zoological Gardens, Castle Hill, Dudley, DY1 4QF.

Meanwhile, the zoo's resident giant anteater Romy had to box clever to find her third birthday treats. She devoured stuffed cardboard boxes filled with scrunched up newspaper, dried mealworms and bottles of yoghurt.

Romy, who came to the zoo from the Czech Republic two years ago, was joined by pal Bubbles, who arrived in June.

Works now under way to upgrade play area

A £55,000 play area will be built at a park in Kingswinford.

Work has started on the new facility in Cot Lane, and it is hoped it will be finished before the end of the school summer holidays.

Existing equipment, which is outdated, is being replaced and safer surfaces installed. Equipment will include monkey bars, a roundabout, slide, seesaw, rope nets and swings.

It will be designed so it is more accessible for wheelchair users and people with mobility issues.

Emma Jones, chairman of the Friends of Cot Lane Park, said: "We are really excited about the new park equipment and what it has to offer all the children in the community."

"The current park has become very outdated and we wanted to provide a safe and fun place for children to play."

"I would personally like to thank all the members of the committee for their hard work, dedication and commitment over the last two years. Without their support none of this would have been possible."

Dudley Council leader Patrick Harley added: "I am delighted that the council has been able to support the Friends group at Cot Lane to make this project a reality. As this park is in my ward, I know only too well how much this new equipment is desperately needed and how much it will be welcomed by children and parents in Kingswinford."

The project is funded by Ibstock Enovert Trust, Enovert Community Trust, Dudley Council and funds allocated by the local community forum.

Bus and Metro interchange plan

A PLANNING application for a 'world class' transport interchange in Dudley is to be lodged in the coming weeks.

The interchange will provide stops for bus services as well as the Midland Metro. It will replace the town's current bus station in Fisher Street, and is expected to open in 2022, in time for Metro services.

Transport of West Midlands is behind the project and a spokesman said: "We expect to submit a planning application for the redevelopment of Dudley Interchange either later this month or early September."

"The project needs to be synchronised with the construction of the Midland Metro tram extension which on current projections would mean a completion date of around 2022."

Woman talked down off bridge

A BUSY route was closed in both directions as a woman threatened to jump from a bridge.

Emergency services were called to a bridge over Duncan Edwards Way, also known as the Dudley Bypass, at around 8pm on August 7.

Police said the distressed woman was threatening to jump but after two hours was taken to safety. The bypass was closed in both directions as a precaution.

West Midlands Ambulance Service spokeswoman Claire Brown said: "The woman was led to safety and taken to hospital for treatment. There were no serious injuries."

A third of small firms back Brexit

A THIRD of small and medium-sized firms (SMEs) in the West Midlands say they think Brexit will have a positive outcome for them.

It matched the 33 per cent nationally who told OCO Global, a specialist provider of international trade and investment services, that they think it will have a positive impact on their business.

Also 22 per cent of West Midlands SMEs said they had already felt a positive impact since the EU referendum vote compared to 32 per cent nationally.

Arrest made after huge factory fire

A 27-year-old man has been arrested on suspicion of arson following a factory fire in Brierley Hill.

Up to nine fire crews tackled the blaze at its height after it broke out in Hurst Business Park, Navigation Drive, at around 4.40am on Friday.

A police spokesman said: "A 27-year-old man has been arrested on suspicion of arson and he remains in police custody."

"Investigations continue and any-one with information is asked to call police on 101, quoting log 320 of 10 August."

Race boost is a £5,000 quacker for the hospice

A CHARITY canal rubber duck race and fun day helped raise £5,000 for the Mary Stevens Hospice in Stourbridge.

Hundreds of ducks were launched at the second annual Black Country Duck Race, with more than 1,000 people cheering them on at the Tenth Lock Pub, in Delph Road.

The event helped to raise £5,000 for the hospice with funds coming from duck entries and attractions at the fun day.

Canalside Tackle sponsored the purchase of all 600 ducks which were entered into the race.

Chere Griffin, landlord of the Tenth Lock, said she was delighted by the event's success. She added: "We love the hospice, and it is our privilege to put events on like this for our community in support of families who are going through such difficult times."

"To know how much we've raised, and more importantly what that money will make possible, is actually quite overwhelming and we can only say thank you to everyone who has made it possible, as it is always a team effort."

Amanda Bowen, deputy head of fundraising and lottery at the hospice, said: "Watching thousands of people stream through the pub to line the canal in support of their local hospice is a memory I personally will treasure for the rest of my life."

Taste of working life for children

A SIGHT-LOSS charity invited the children of its workforce in to experience a day in the life of their parents.

The Beacon Centre For The Blind at Sedgley saw employees' children arrive at its headquarters to get a taste of life at work. Youngsters got to know the roles of their parents and created their own personalised craft items in the Fab Lab.

The Lab, which aims to help those living with sight loss to learn digital and design skills, opened last month.

Matt Harrison, technology innovation manager at Beacon, said: "The kids were amazed to see the 3D printer and laser cutter in action."

To donate to the Beacon Centre, please visit beacon.vision.org/donate-to-beacon or call 01902 880111.

Truckman boost exports via Swiss link

DUDLEY-BASED Truckman, the UK's leading manufacturer and supplier of hardtops for pick-up trucks, is increasing its export activity after establishing a long-term relationship with a Swiss vehicle accessory supplier.

Casco Accessories has been serving the Swiss pick-up market for five years enjoying rapid growth and recently expanded into the larger Italian market where the 4x4 vehicles are growing in popularity among both leisure and commercial users.

Having first imported hardtops from Holland, Casco Accessories has now struck the agreement with Truckman for a selection of its luxury and robust commercial canopies to meet a growing demand from customers. It is now successfully supplying Fiat, Ford, Isuzu, Mitsubishi and Nissan dealers in Switzerland with Truckman hardtops and aims for similar growth in Italy.

From its base in northern Switzerland, Casco Accessories stocks Truckman hardtops which are all designed in the UK. Customers cover a cross-section of industries including agriculture and construction, with the majority being private vehicle owners who use their pick-ups for business and leisure activities.

While the UK remains the core market for Truckman, about 10 per cent of its business comes from international sales and the Black Country company aims to increase its export activity through relationships with companies such as Casco Accessories.

In addition to the Swiss and Italian markets through Casco, Truckman is also targeting France, Germany, the Netherlands, Norway and Sweden.

£1m of council cash is still waiting to be spent

NEARLY £1 million earmarked for local improvements across Dudley borough remains unspent after five years, it has been revealed.

But the Dudley Council has defended the underspend, saying it meets regularly to decide how it uses Section 106 cash, which it obtains from planning agreements with developers.

Deadlines for spending the money vary and can range from five to 20 years. The funds are collected as part of conditions imposed on developers when granting planning permission and can be used for schools, parks and other community facilities.

A freedom of information request revealed that Dudley Council collected £1.48 million via Section 106 over the last five years but spent only £428,000.

Reduced

Of the remaining £1,052,000, nearly £160,000 has been allocated to projects leaving £893,000 unused in council coffers.

Over the same period, the authority has had to cut services as central government reduced funding.

The council has defended how it spends and allocates the money.

Councillor Ian Kettle, cabinet member for regeneration and enterprise, said: "It is agreed in advance with developers what purpose the Section 106 payments will be used for, and they remain ring-fenced for that purpose."

"Deadlines for spending the money vary and can range from five to 20 years – indeed in some cases there is no deadline. It depends on the development itself and the purpose for which the cash is being provided."

"Before a proposed spend we consult with councillors in the relevant ward, before a final sign-off by the relevant cabinet member. This is to ensure any investment adds value to the community and meets both local and strategic needs. We also have a corporate working group, which meets throughout the year to oversee the receipt, allocation and spend of Section 106 monies."

Stolen sheep rescued from canal

Animal keeper Lydia Parker with the sheep from Clent which was rescued from a Dudley canal

A STOLEN sheep which was saved from a Dudley canal has been taken in by a sanctuary – where it awaits its owner.

The sheep, a female adult who has yet to be named, was found in a canal in Netherton and has been taken in at Brockwood Animal Sanctuary in Sedgley.

Steve Austin, 61, a volunteer at the sanctuary, said: "The owner has been found. We had a phone call from the council asking if we could take in a sheep they had found."

"People managed to get it into a builder's merchant yard and then they called the council."

"The sheep has got an ear tag so they have traced it to a farm in Wales – the ear tag was from the original farm and he had sold the sheep to a farm in Clent Hills. The farmer from Clent Hill told the council that he had a lot of sheep stolen and this is one of the sheep that was stolen."

Broken Or Damaged Windows? Faulty Locks, Handles, Hinges?

IN MY VIEW

with Mark Andrews

Now is it all change if we moan enough?

ACCORDING to a poll commissioned by that bastion of impartiality People's Vote, an organisation set up to campaign for a second referendum on leaving the EU, about half the population of the UK think it would be a good idea. Who'd have thought it?

As opinion polls go, it sounds about as authoritative as the old Whiskas advert which said eight out of 10 cats preferred their food. Still, they could be on to something. Perhaps it sets a precedent that any result we don't like can be reversed if we moan enough.

The Championship play-off final, for example, was a huge mistake. Villa should clearly have won. Time for a group called People's Final to commission a poll outside Villa Park at, say, 5.45 on a Saturday afternoon.

As for that World Cup semi-final against Croatia...

THAT said, if there is one group more fanatical than the EU zealots, it must be militant cyclists.

Not the millions of ordinary people who simply enjoy riding bikes, you understand. While I don't understand the appeal myself, particularly if it means turning up at your destination dripping with sweat and needing a change of clothing, I do recognise that many people do. Each to their own, and all that.

The people I'm talking about are those on a mission to convert the rest of us to their way of thinking. They spend thousands on bizarre clothing, subscribe to all the magazines, and never stop boring the rest of us about their virtuous lifestyle. And for some reason, they view themselves as some kind of marginalised minority group warranting special treatment.

Over the weekend transport minister Jesse Norman announced proposals to update road safety laws following the death last year of Kim Briggs at the hands of cyclist Charlie Alliston. Because dangerous driving laws do not extend to cyclists, the prosecution had to rely on a charge of "wanton and furious driving" under an 1861 act aimed at horse-drawn carriages. As a result, Alliston was let off with an 18-month sentence, and is presumably at liberty once more.

You would think any reasonable person would be in favour of closing this loophole. But after a few hours of rage from the cycling zealots on Twitter the minister issued a timid apology.

I'm not sure which is the most pathetic. The siege mentality of the cycling nuts, or the craven minister who lacked the backbone to stand up to them.

Boris wades in once again, where others fear to tread

Blackadder's First World War uniform – but Amiens was a battle which turned the tide

Boris's burka blast was not as much of a tub-thumping tirade as you might expect

Julian Lory, who was told to do some DIY policing after reporting his tools had been stolen

Taxing times for pay-up politeness

STILL no reply from TV Licensing on why their reminders have adopted a more threatening tone of late. In the meantime, a reader points out that the vehicle-tax reminder from the DVLA now begins: "Tax it or lose it." First the threat, then the demand for money. And we pay their wages. I seem to remember a time when every communication from the Civil Service ended: "I remain your most obedient servant."

THE way things are going it's only a matter of time before all these official reminders begin with: "Pay up or we'll send the boys round."

GREAT dates in history. August 8, 2018: Britain discovers the Battle of Amiens. This week's wall-to-wall coverage of the centenary of the battle was a lesson for the nation, delivered rather late.

THE problem this country's influential liberal-Left has always had with the First World War is that for almost 100 years the only acceptable narrative was one of butchery, failure, waste, stupidity, lions led by donkeys, Blackadder and Oh, What a Lovely War. So it's a bit awkward having to explain to a forgetful and ignorant nation that Britain and her Allies, led by the same "donkeys" as in 1916, actually won the war in the summer and autumn of 1918. They did it in a series of fast, mobile battles, skilfully co-ordinating armour, artillery, air power and infantry in a way never seen before. The Tommies of 1918 were proud of their victories, and we should be, too.

I AM not a fan of Boris Johnson. He was a dismal foreign secretary and would be a monumentally bad prime minister. But as a commentator and columnist who gets the nation talking, he is in a class of his own. And if you haven't read his Daily Telegraph column on the burka, then do. After all the fuss and fury, you may expect to find a beer-hall rant, a tub-thumping demand for burkas to be banned. It is exactly the opposite.

THE BEST OF PETER RHODES

JOHNSON'S column is a timely, considered, intelligent and humane plea for Britain not to follow Denmark and France by imposing a ban on all face-coverings. Johnson clearly dislikes such forms of dress - hence his "letter box" jibe - but there is absolutely no way that his column, in an upmarket newspaper, could stir up racial or religious hatred - although some of the hysterical and politically-inspired reactions to it might. The howling-down, the demands for him to be punished are chilling. We are supposed to live in a free country. Some days I barely recognise it.

AND off to the car-accessory showroom where the staff have all been issued with headphones and Britney-style microphones, enabling them to communicate across the store. The result is a weird detachment. The lady at the till is looking at you and talking but she is not talking to you. She is talking to Carl in roof racks & camping and that sweet smile is for him, not you. So when you smile back, she looks at you as though you're mad. One day all these jobs will be done by robots. I don't think we will notice the difference.

WHILE he was busy repairing a roof in a Devon village, Julian Lory had £8,000 worth of tools stolen by burglars. Police advised him to "go door to door" and see if he could "generate a line of inquiry." No surprises there, then. The days are long gone when the constabulary responded to ordinary crimes inflicted on ordinary people. The best Mr Lory can hope for is that one day he'll get a call that goes: "Hi, Julian. It's Pc Bloggs here at the local nick. Thing is, we've got a hole in the roof and wondered if you could fix it for us." And Mr Lory will have the exquisite joy of replying: "No. I've got a better idea. Buy a trowel and some nails and a bucket full of mastic and then get yourself a ladder and..."

HERE'S something to worry about when the drought goes away. After the discovery of water beneath the surface of Mars, a scientist popped up on telly to stress the absolute necessity of not contaminating Martian microbes with germs from Earth. Fair point. But to be honest I'm more worried about humankind's eternal quest for knowledge resulting in a vial of Martian microbes being brought to Earth - and someone dropping it.

AS any father will tell you, heroism is not part of the job description. But there was one moment in 1990 when I came home from work and presented my four-year-old daughter with something that made me the hero of the hour. I'd been interviewing a pair of North Country comedians and although I'd barely heard of them, my little girl was a huge fan. She still has that autographed photo of the Chuckle Brothers. Barry Chuckle died a few days ago and I bet a lot of 30-somethings shed a tear.

TALKING POINT

Doctor's orders on row over parking

IN reply to Mark Shipp's comments on the parking of emergency vehicles.

To begin with, the parking warden had actually been trained by EuroPark to not give out parking tickets to emergency vehicles so I would say he actually wasn't doing his job properly.

But to be honest, I don't even think that is the point.

Whether you think EuroPark actually trained him this way or he was being a jobs worth is up to you.

Mark 'agreed' with the fact that emergency workers need a drink during a long shift but didn't actually give any solutions to the problem.

Where they parked wasn't ideal but there was actually nowhere else nearby to park.

And on another point, this was private parking, so there are no actual 'laws' pertaining to this.

What I would like to ask Mark is how exactly does he think these hardworking, often self-sacrificing people will be able to drink, eat or even use the toilet if they have nowhere to park?

They may not have been on an emergency call (you don't exactly see a blue light to pick up a sandwich from Tesco's!) but they're always on stand-by for them.

So my question to you is - how would you feel if you called an ambulance for someone you cared about, someone very ill, possibly dying - and it took too long to arrive?

This is the reality of the situation if emergency workers find somewhere 'legal' to park.

If their ambulance is parked 20 minutes away and they have to run back, this loses precious time that they could be treating the patient.

And in some situations, minutes can mean life or death.

Would you really begrudge an ambulance parking on double yellows, would you be willing to run that risk?

Unfortunately these days in the current state of the NHS, a break doesn't necessarily mean a break. If often means ramming a sandwich down your throat as fast as possible and moving on to the next patient.

Our breaks are supposed to be protected but be realistic, are we going to sit down and relax with a cup of tea or down it and do our job?

It's hard being an emergency worker.

Please try to walk a mile in our shoes before you criticise.

We are people, not super humans so please don't begrudge us a quick sandwich in between saving people's lives.

Tories put party before country's interests

I too must disagree with Mr Perry. I have numerous friends and relations who voted leave. They are definitely intelligent, some having university degrees and others holding positions of authority.

I do believe, however, that they were let down by Government and were deceived by factions within society. The public were led to believe misconceptions that the UK is powerless against the huge EU bloc. This is completely false! As the second largest economy, we have massive influence, in addition to which we can veto any measures that we believe to be against our principles or damaging to our economy. If our representatives have failed to use the veto, then we should blame them.

We pay a lot of money for membership, but so do the other 27 members. It all goes into a huge fund from which any EU nation can draw to fund improvements to infrastructure and community projects. Outside the EU, such projects will have to come from our income tax. None of these things were made clear during the referendum.

Taking all this into account, in addition to other disadvantages we might face, I believe there should be a second referendum. We pay our Government to do what is best for our country, not to concentrate on quelling dissent within a political party.

Knowing the upheaval in every sector of the economy, with unknown long term consequences, the Government could simply withdraw from the process and stay in the EU.

The only good thing, if this turns into a disaster the Tories might never get into Government again.

Underage riders are a holiday menace

AS the school holidays are now here, I would like to remind all parents of the dangers of letting their under-age children ride motor-cycles, quad bikes and other similar vehicles on the highway. It is illegal.

They are a danger to themselves and to other road users as they lack the necessary skills to ride safely, in addition to not carrying any insurance whatsoever.

Towpaths

Not riding on the public highway does not mean they should be redirected to ride on the canal towpaths, footpaths or public parks either.

How sad it would be to hear about a child being killed, or of them killing an innocent person, through the sheer folly of under-age driving.

I am not fooled by the EU autocrats

THE EU leaders have nothing but contempt for liberal democracy, all they want is absolute control of politics, the economy and the judiciary and also, if possible, the media.

Are these unelected autocrats so strong or are we the serfs too weak to remove them? All these EU leaders want is to make the laws and rules and tell us what to do, they don't like referendums, they need to keep power to themselves. My days of touching my forelock are long gone. Our fathers fought for a free Europe and a free world. The EU might fool a lot of people but not me. I will never ever surrender to the EU. I want my country back so I can walk with my great grandchildren in England's green and pleasant land once more.

Blue badge for the depressed?

PETER Rhodes says blue badges may be given to sufferers of autism and mental illness. Apparently supporters of this have stickers branding others as pig ignorant. I suffer from stress, anxiety and depression. Last time I checked they were forms of mental illness, as is OCD. Therefore I am qualified to make comment without being pig ignorant.

Why ever these justify a blue badge is beyond me. In fact if I needed a blue badge for anxiety should I be on the road at all? I do however have arthritic knees and ankles and need a walking aid, usually a shopping trolley.

Still, I have seen large SUVs in disabled bays, and wonder how a person with mobility problems gets in and out. The proposals are more than absurd; they are a licence to park where and whenever, and for free. That is some pay-off for being depressed.

Iron Maiden tour kicks off with football game

ROCK royalty Steve Harris slipped on his football boots as the Iron Maiden founder flaunted his football skills in the Black Country.

The heavy metal star took part in a special match against Gornal Athletic FC. Fans were left dazzled by the legendary musician's moves when he took to the club's Garden Walk pitch to raise funds for the club. It is the second time Harris, the bassist and primary songwriter, has played there.

The 62-year-old regularly gets sides together to take on local clubs across the world during Iron Maiden's tours.

Club chairman Lee Farrington, said: "It's a big thing to have him down here and it's great to have people giving back to small football clubs in need of support."

Drink

"Grassroots teams are struggling for funds and every little helps. It will help keep us afloat for another year."

Harris, who founded the heavy metal band in the 1970s, united for the fundraiser with members of Iron Maiden's backroom staff and ex-Scotland international footballer Colin Hendry, who was captain.

The band were in the Midlands to play a gig at the Genting Arena in Birmingham and are currently on a world tour.

The football saw a mixed-age team from the Dudley club compete against an 'Iron Maiden XI', with Harris's supergroup strolling away from the field with a 4-0 win.

Award-winning Harris made time to take snaps with fellow footballers and enjoy a well-earned drink at the end.

Steve Harris from Iron Maiden

Colin Hendry played in the game

The Iron Maiden XI with the players from Gornal Athletic

It was not the first time he had lent his support to the Gornal footballers, with the rocker offering to help gather cash for the club and playing against them previously.

Mr Farrington added: "Steve was more than happy to be here, he did the same thing a couple years ago so he knows Gornal already so it's brilliant."

"He loves his football so we're more than happy to accommodate him."

Gornal Athletic, who play in the West Midlands Regional League, organised the fundraiser ahead of its 2018/19 campaign. Tweeting after the match Iron Maiden said: "A 4-0 win for the mighty Maiden! Thanks Gornal Athletic for a great game."

Carer Keeley saves man from choking

A QUICK-THINKING carer put her life-saving skills to the test to stop a man from choking to death.

Keeley Fowkes, aged 22, used her newly-gained emergency first aid skills to the test when she saved Martin Pearson, who was in her care, from choking.

Keeley, who works at Oak House Care Home, in Netherton, was on a short holiday with fellow staff members and two of their service users when disaster struck.

They had gone out for dinner one evening, when Martin started to choke on his food. Keeley's quick reactions helped to save the life of Mr Pearson, who has learning disabilities.

She had only completed her basic life support training, with Endeavour Care Training, weeks before the life-threatening situation. Ms Fowkes, from Halesowen, said: "We were out to dinner, Martin ordered a well-done steak and, after taking a bite, tried to talk, breathing the steak to the back of this throat. Initially we didn't think too much of it and tried to wash it down with water, but he started panicking and his lips turned blue. All the training just came to me in that moment and I was able to perform the techniques we were taught in order to dislodge the food.

"It was very frightening, but I think the adrenaline just kicked in." Mr

Resident Martin Pearson, with carer Keeley Fowkes who saved his life

Pearson, although able to work full-time, depends on the support at the care home.

He said: "I'm just so grateful to Keeley. She knew exactly what to do to help me. I genuinely thought I was going to die."

In recognition for her quick and decisive actions, Keeley was presented with an award by Endeavour Care Training.

Adam and Dominic Brinton-Williams, Oak House owners, said: "It's a privilege knowing you've got staff like Keeley, she's remarkable, and fantastic with our service users.

"And that goes for all our wonderful team, we are very proud indeed."

Team to block cold calls

THE power to block cold calls from scammers is in the hands of Dudley residents most at risk.

As part of a crackdown to wipe out financial cons in the Dudley borough, a scams unit has been set up by the council's Trading Standards.

It is primarily working with vulnerable residents who often find themselves on so-called 'sucker lists' which are used by criminals to identify and prey on their victims. As part of its work the team is going into homes of vulnerable people who regularly receive cold calls from scammers and installing call blockers temporarily.

This means that every time a call is received, the resident can press a large red button and that number is blocked and unable to call again.

Evidence shows that within a three-month period, the cold calling stops and the potential victim essentially disappears from the 'sucker lists'.

Councillor Ruth Buttery, cabinet member for health and wellbeing, said: "It's a big job but with incentives such as call blockers, we are helping to prevent older people being targeted. Since the scams unit launched more than five months ago, its staff have already visited more than 50 residents who have been targeted by scammers.

"It has recovered more than £17,000 for victims and is investigating cases that amount to at least £350,000 in losses," Councillor Buttery added.

If anyone is concerned that they or someone they know may have fallen victim to financial scams, they should contact the Trading Standards' scams team on 01384 818871 or via tradingstandards@dudley.gov.uk

10 Drug abuse deaths soar over decade

Stourbridge Chronicle Thursday, August 16, 2018

ONE person dies from drug abuse in the Black Country every six days, with the number of deaths almost doubling in a decade, shock new figures have revealed.

It is the same in the Stafford borough, Cannock Chase and South Staffordshire, where deaths have trebled.

Figures from the Office for National Statistics show there were 122 deaths in the Black Country which involved illegal drugs or were as a result of drug abuse or dependence. The figures cover the two-year period between 2015-2017 and are up from 73 drug abuse deaths in 2005-2007.

Budgets

The borough with the highest rate was Walsall, where 5.1 people died from drug abuse per 100,000 population. This compared to 3.7 in Wolverhampton, 3.8 in Sandwell and 3.6 in Dudley.

In Stafford, Cannock Chase and South Staffordshire there were 165 drug abuse deaths in 2015 to 2017, up from 14 in 2005 to 2007. Stafford had the worst rate, 5.9 drug abuse deaths per 100,000 people, followed by Cannock Chase with 4.8. The national rate is 6.4.

The rise in deaths come at a time council budgets are cutting spending on drug rehabilitation services.

Doorstop Buddha under hammer

A RARE Buddha statue used as a doorstop by an elderly couple is expected to sell for 'a spectacular sum' when it goes under the hammer with eight others.

Made from gold and bronze, the nine ornaments were found among 300 other collectables in the home of an elderly London couple.

They were dotted around, hidden in cupboards and sitting on coffee tables - with one used to prop open a door.

The Buddhas come from China and Thailand and are believed to be from the 16th century Ming dynasty.

They will go under the hammer at Stourbridge-based firm Fieldings Auctioneers on September 1.

Fieldings' Asian Art expert, Will Farmer, who is also an expert on the BBC's Antiques Roadshow, said: "The couple were collectors and had an amazing life travelling the world picking up hundreds of items."

"Out of these we found these fantastic Asian Buddhas that were spectacularly dotted all over the house."

"The market for Asian art has sky-rocketed in the last 10 years. We expect the highest valued Buddha to fetch between £8,000 to £12,000."

"Because of the rarity of the pieces they're an unknown quantity and could reach spectacular sums."

The money from the auction will go back to the family and the estate, with the auction house dividing the 300 lots between sales in September and October.

A FATHER and son who assaulted and racially abused a taxi driver have been handed suspended jail terms. The pair - both called Jason Deathridge - struck at a filling station forecourt where they had allegedly been locked in the stationary cab.

The move came amid fears they were not going to pay the fare, a judge was told, but it was alleged that two of the passengers may have suffered panic attacks.

The two men and three females, two of whom were aged 13 and 14, were picked up from the Hasbury Conservative Club in Halesowen.

Another woman customer had been collected from an address in Brierley Hill, Wolverhampton Crown Court heard.

Taxi driver Tanvir Dad was asked by her to take the group to Blackheath but on the way overheard conversation in the back of the cab that suggested to him the passengers were not going to pay when they reached the destination, said Mrs Sati Ruck, prosecuting.

Midnight

He decided to drive back to a BP petrol station in Stourbridge Road which was illuminated and covered by CCTV which showed the vehicle was parked for six minutes without anybody getting out.

Meanwhile, another taxi driver stopped to talk with Mr Dad through an open window shortly before the passengers started to get out at around midnight on December 10, 2016, the court was told.

The younger Deathridge, who, like his father, appeared to have been drinking, hurled racial abuse at the driver whom he chased before knocking him to the ground where the victim was kicked several times as the

Report by John Scott

48-year-old father joined in, ending up on top of Mr Dad as others rushed to end the violence. The driver suffered bruising to the back, shoulder and face.

Mrs Ruck concluded: "Jason Deathridge senior accepts that his son was shouting racial abuse and that he then joined his son by taking part in the subsequent incident."

Mr Anthony Cartin, representing the 23-year-old son, who was of previous good character, said: "He is thoroughly ashamed of his actions."

Mr Tom Kenning, defending the father, added: "The passengers were locked in the taxi for six minutes during which the two young women suffered panic attacks and became upset and this appears to have been the catalyst, but it is no excuse."

The father and son, both from Roundhills Road, Hurst Green, Halesowen, each admitted racially aggravated assault. The former was given an 18-month jail sentence suspended for 18 months with 180 hours unpaid work. His son was given a 16-month suspended sentence with 150 hours unpaid work.

They must pay £300 and £200 compensation respectively to the victim.

Drunken husband was literally in the doghouse

A HUSBAND was literally in the doghouse after alcohol abuse wrecked his nine-year marriage.

Police found Brett Saunders hiding in a kennel in the back garden of the matrimonial home in Coseley.

He had breached a non-molestation order banning him from visiting the home in Davies Avenue, Wolverhampton Crown Court was told. The 44-year-old, who had been ordered out of the property after assaulting his wife while drunk last September, had got back in touch with her at Easter but had sent her alarming texts, explained Mr Howard Searle, prosecuting.

Police were called to the house on May 25 and found him in the dog kennel. They removed Saunders and sent him on his way but he returned four hours later, prompting another call for help to the officers. He was then arrested, and discovered to be armed with a knife, which he later claimed to be carrying for his own protection, it was said.

The family court issued a non-molestation order banning him from visiting the address but he was seen outside the property by a neighbour on June 27. His wife was not at home and police found him passed out in the garden. He was charged with breaking the terms of the court order and was remanded in custody for a month.

This had done him 'a power of good' by weaning him off alcohol, said Mr Oliver Woolhouse, defending. The lawyer continued: "He had a troubled youth but remained offence free for 23 years until last September when his drinking triggered an assault that led to the breakdown of his relationship."

Saunders, of Old Hall Close, Amblecote, admitted possession of a lock knife, harassing his wife and breaking the terms of the order. He was given a nine month jail term suspended for two years with a 16-week curfew and was made subject of a restraining order for three years.

Judge Simon Ward said: "You were making a misery of your wife's life."

Charity is tournament goal

A FOOTBALL tournament has raised £10,000 for a West Midlands charity. The JW Hunt Cup competition brought in money for sight-loss charity Beacon.

A cheque was given at the charity's Sedgley centre, in Wolverhampton Road East, by JW Hunt Cup president and life-time supporter Alex Hamil MBE.

Beacon Centre CEO Arwyn Jones said: "The JW Hunt Cup has supported us over many decades. We rely on the generosity of the local community through initiatives like this. I would like to thank everyone on the behalf of Beacon for their kind donations. As well as raising funds the cup is helping increase awareness and helps shine a light on our vital work."

Since its inception more than 90 years ago, the tournament has raised £340,000 for the charity.

Cousins

As a family, we're immensely proud to have served our local community for the last 33 years and that as a well-established business, built on very firm foundations, we're continuing to grow and enhance our in-store and online shopping experience.

Did you know?

Cousins was founded in 1985 by the grandsons of Bill Cole, founder of Coles of Bilston and continues to be run today by the 3rd and 4th generations.

With origins back to 1921, the original family business began selling reclaimed household items

Two episodes of Coronation Street were filmed at the Manchester store. Cousins also furnished Carla's apartment

An episode of Top Gear involving Richard Hammond was filmed in the car park at the Birmingham store

Robert Shotton, Founder, met Prince Charles after carpeting the Help the Heroes family room at QE Hospital, Birmingham

All traces of Goodyear are now almost gone forever

IT is well and truly the end of an era as demolition work on the iconic Goodyear factory buildings nears completion.

The closure of the plant in Bushbury Lane and Stafford Road, Wolverhampton, was announced in 2015 after years of scaling down, resulting in the loss of 330 jobs.

The decision was a huge blow and more than a 1,000 people signed a petition calling for it to be saved. It finally shut in August 2017 and has since been reduced to rubble, making way for homes.

Festival will offer food for thought

A MINI food festival heads to the Black Country over the Bank Holiday weekend.

The mini food festival takes place at the Red House Glass Cone, in Wordsley, between 11am and 6pm on August 25 and 26.

On offer for all the family will be open craft studios and food offerings including burgers, hot dogs, Thai, Italian, Indian and homemade preserves. People will also be able to enjoy a tippie or two including a Prosecco bar, beer and gin.

Entry is free, but fees may apply for some activities.

Councillor Ian Kettle, Dudley Council's cabinet member for tourism, said: "This is a great day out for all of the family, with tempting treats for everyone. There will be food available to suit all tastes."

Cyril Barrett, chairman of the Unite branch at Goodyear, said it was the 'end of an era'.

He said: "It really is very sad, it's heartbreaking, to see what happened. It has been the break-up of the biggest family in Wolverhampton and the Black Country – the biggest, kindest family has been destroyed."

Shame

Former worker Wayne Devaney, from Wednesfield, said: "I drove down that way a couple of times and have seen the buildings taken down bit by bit," he said. "It's a real crying shame. My wife tells me not to cry but it was a big part of my life for 28 years."

"The whole operation was fantastic, and at the end of the day, I know Goodyear upped sticks but ultimately they gave me 28 great years."

People living near site have watched on as the final brickwork is torn down for good. There were mixed reactions on social media after photographs of the final buildings being torn down were published.

Facebook user Gillian Nicholls said: "So many local people worked there. I think it's very sad"

All traces of the old factory should be gone before the end of the year.

One of the few remaining buildings on the old site

Demolition crews at the site

All traces of what remains will be gone by the year's end

Legacy the perfect tonic for patients

CRITICALLY ill patients and those who have suffered a stroke will benefit from two generous donations to a hospital made by former Goodyear workers.

A Bioquell Isolation Pod has been installed at Russells Hall Hospital thanks to a £28,000 grant from the 5/344 Transport and General Workers Union Benevolent Fund Trustees have also handed over £9,190 to pay for improvements to the stroke unit therapy room, including the purchase of a state-of-the-art reminiscence interactive therapy unit for patients to utilise.

Members of the benevolent fund, including chairman of the trustees

Cyril Barrett, Simon Terry and Arvin-Hoth, visited the hospital to see how their money would benefit patients in the future.

They met staff from the critical care unit along with the hospital's director of operations Karen Kelly, who said: "The pod is such an amazing addition to our critical care unit."

Rhyme time at museum with Dave the poet

THE Black Country Living Museum's poet in residence, Dave Reeves, will be helping people find their muse when he takes a poetry writing workshop next month.

The Tipton Road attraction will be the venue for the event on September 29. A museum spokesman said it would "draw on the built environment of the museum and delve into your own experiences".

The spokesman added: "In a warm and supportive atmosphere, and using a variety of writing forms, Dave will guide you through a day of concentrated but fun writing, and will help you to look at your work from new perspectives and, perhaps, unexpected angles. The workshop is suitable for both beginners and those with writing experience."

Dave has held many writing residencies around the Midlands and was Literature Development Officer for Sandwell Libraries. He is currently involved with the Back in 10 project at the museum, as one of five artists presenting performances in different locations across the site every Friday.

The next takes place tomorrow in Old Birmingham Road, set in the 1930s.

Back in 10 is part of BCLM's Summer Evenings programme: £5 entry after 4pm.

Talk series opened by ex-Test skipper

FORMER England cricket captain Ted Dexter will open a programme of talks.

The 83-year-old batsman will be visiting the pavilion at Stourbridge Cricket Club on October 18 at 7.30pm.

The opening night is limited to Stourbridge and District Cricket Society members and their guests.

Hunting for treasure and helping the police

The life of a metal detectorist involves more than just digging up lost bottle tops as expert treasure finder David Dickinson reveals

From helping the police, to searching for long-lost church windows or treasure, metal detectorists do a lot more than digging up bottle caps.

One rare find David Dickinson came across recently near Wem was a silver Roman brooch dating back about 2,000 years, writes Jordan Reynolds.

The incomplete silver Polden Hill type brooch was declared treasure at an inquest – and now half of the value will go to Mr Dickinson and half to the owner of the land where it was discovered.

The 68-year-old from Wrexham has been to four inquests in his 40 years' metal detecting and all items were declared treasure.

"As soon as I found the brooch I knew it was something interesting," he said.

"We were in an organised group searching with permission of the landowner.

"It will now go to the Treasure Valuation Committee where they will decide the value of the treasure." Mr Dickinson is treasurer of the Mold Historical Search Society.

"We help the police if they have any problems," the former distribution manager at Habitat said.

"One time a helicopter crashed in Mid Wales and the people on board died and we were asked to go and search for the pilot and his wife's wedding rings for the family.

"Fortunately we were able to find them and the pilot's watch.

"More recently we've been involved with St Padarn's Church, Llanberis. During the civil war in the 1640s the windows were taken out for safety and had been lost and we were asked to try and find them around the church grounds. Unfortunately we didn't find them in this case."

Mr Dickinson said there was a bit of a craze of metal detecting in the 1970s and that is how he first got involved.

He said: "The machines have progressed a lot since then so I kept on and there's been a bit of a resurgence recently. You can buy them from Maplins or places like that but generally they'd be a couple of thousand pounds.

"Most treasure finds come from Suffolk because this area wasn't as populated as it is now, so we don't find as much as others.

"We search land before developers build houses in Shropshire sometimes and report anything to the local finds liaison officer."

Mr Dickinson has found a number of silver and gold coins near Chester in the past which were also declared treasure.

"I found 42 silver coins and one gold coin in Huntington near Chester," he said.

"That was very exciting, it was one of the first inquests I went to."

Bodkin

Mr Dickinson said the detectors can find metal if it is eight to 10 inches below the ground, or up to a foot for larger items.

Last year a medieval silver bodkin was found in a field in the county, one of only two of its kind found in the UK.

Chris Langston from Oswestry made the discovery while metal detecting on agricultural land and it has now been declared treasure by the British Museum.

The silver bodkin needle, also worn as a hair pin, is believed to date back to the 16th to 17th century.

Mr Langston's latest find has spurred him into launching a new business, specialising in metal detecting holidays in the area.

Another detectorist, David Franklin, dug up more than a dozen silver coins dating back to the time of Henry VIII last year.

The coins were found on land near to Ludlow. The Mold Historical Search Society visits groups to do talks for free or to raise money for chosen charities.

Demands for public inquiry over grant

The New Saints players make their way onto the pitch

THE chief executive of Shropshire Council has rejected calls for a public inquiry into the circumstances of an £80,000 grant to a football club.

Councillor Alan Mosley, leader of Shropshire Council's Labour group, and his deputy, Councillor Harry Taylor, had written to Clive Wright and council leader Councillor Peter Nutting saying an independent investigation was now needed to clear the air about money given to The New Saints of Oswestry Town FC (TNS) in 2012.

Shropshire Council says the grant was given on condition that the money was paid back by the club in the form of grants to Oswestry Town Council, but only £10,000 was actually repaid.

Last week the full findings of the council's own internal inquiry were revealed, which said it was not clear whether the failure to recover the money was 'by design or accident', and that at least EIGHT opportunities to claim the money back had been missed.

It also revealed that crucial computer files had been 'inadvertently wiped'.

The council's Labour group has now written to chief executive Mr Wright saying it is now time for an independent figure to probe the matter more thoroughly.

Group leader Councillor Mosley said: "We've called for an independent inquiry after listening to unprecedented and growing demands from local residents who want the truth on the so called 'legacy grant' to TNS."

"The public standing of Shropshire Council risks sinking further unless this whole affair, and associated issues are investigated independently. Even the internal audit report raises the question of whether the lack of efforts to reclaim the money was due to 'design or accident'. I want to know if it was by design or accident."

Report by Mark Andrews

Councillor Mosley said he was also concerned that a council official who prepared an invoice asking the club to repay £32,000 in 2014 was told to "hold until next week before doing anything please."

But Mr Wright said that while some members of the council had made allegations of wrong-doing, none of them had so far produced any evidence to back up the claims.

"There is a call from certain political parties, supported by some elected members, for an inquiry into the TNS issues," he said.

"However, it is the view of council senior officers that there is nothing to be gained from this and it would not be in the public interest as the chronology of events recording what happened are clear, the police have no evidence of any crime and our audit finds no wrongdoing."

Councillor Mosley said only an independent investigation, with public and transparent conclusions, could restore confidence in the council's ability to handle major financial transactions.

"The inquiry could be led by a retired judge, a barrister, or a senior police officer, somebody who would be truly independent," he said. "It needs a completely fresh pair of eyes, somebody who would be able to conduct a more rigorous investigation in terms of interviewing people, rather than just looking at the paper trail."

Councillor Taylor added: "Like me, many new councillors weren't in office when this affair unfolded and many more had little to no knowledge of it. Yet the repercussions of the ongoing speculation reflects badly on all councillors and council officers. Only an independent inquiry can settle this issue."

TNS chairman Mike Harris insists that because the payment was a grant and not a loan, the club was under no obligation to repay the money. But internal emails between the council and the club show that the council expected the money to be repaid.

Mr Wright released a lengthy statement which said: "A grant of £80,000 was made by Shropshire Council to The New Saints (TNS) Football Club and this was used to build a new stand, thereby bringing both economic and community benefits."

"As part of the conditions of the grant TNS were to make payments equal to the £80,000 of grant they received to local projects to be determined by the Oswestry Economic Board. £10,000 was paid out to fund local projects but then the Oswestry Economic Board became dormant. The remaining £70,000 was not paid out. The police have looked into this matter and they can find no evidence of criminal activity."

School and centre link up for life-saving boost

A NEW defibrillator has been installed outside a Dudley school as part of an ongoing project started by intu Merry Hill to ensure local residents have access to potentially life-saving equipment.

Merry Hill Shopping Centre owners intu Merry Hill, through a combination of fundraising and donations, has generated more than £15,000 to allow the installation of 14 defibrillators.

The equipment has been fitted in local schools and community centres, with the most recent being at Holly Hall Academy, in Scotts Green Close.

In addition, 10 members of intu Merry Hill staff have volunteered to support the FastAid Black Country charity, by becoming official defibrillator instructors, supporting more than 1,000 people across the region how to use the equipment.

Training

FastAid Black Country are a group of community first responders supported by West Midlands Ambulance Service who work to increase the number of defibrillators across the region as well as providing free training on how to use them.

Defibrillators are the only treatment for sudden cardiac arrest and immediate treatment can increase a patient's survival by up to 70 per cent if used within the first three minutes. It costs the charity approximately £2,000 to install each one.

Naomi Campbell, Community Development Manager at intu Merry Hill, said: "The presence of a defibrillator could be the difference between life and death in an emergency situation, which is why it's so important to ensure all members of the community have access to one. The partnership with FastAid Black Country first began when we offered our centre as a base for their operations and equipment."

Naomi Campbell and Shaun Stokes of intu, careers adviser at Holly Hall Zoe Turton and principal and Andy Landers with the defibrillator

Paul Grove, FastAid Black Country chairman, said: "In partnership with West Midlands Ambulance Service, we aim to provide access to defibrillators to more than two million people across the Black Country and Birmingham, which is why support from a place like intu Merry Hill is vital in helping us carrying out our work."

"Since then we've been able to donate both time and funds to the cause, supporting more than 1,000 people with their training and 14 additional defibrillators being installed across the region."

Reg Keirle celebrates playing for 50 years at The Trumpet in Bilston

The Trumpet in Bilston, where Reg has been performing for 50 years

Reg performing at The Trumpet - circa 1985

Reg still hits the right notes after five decades

A JAZZ musician who inspired one of Slade's biggest hits has celebrated performing for 50 years at a Black Country pub.

Reginald Andrew Keirle, known as 'Reg' or 'Keirley', started playing piano at The Trumpet, in High Street, Bilston, in the summer of 1968.

The pianist was the inspiration behind one of Slade's biggest hits - Skweeze Me Pleeze Me - after Jim Lea and Don Powell saw him perform on a Sunday night, according to Powell's Look What I Dun autobiography.

Friends and family gathered around Mr Keirle to celebrate the 82-year old's legacy at the pub.

Mr Keirle said: "It was a complete surprise to me. I thought it would be an ordinary Monday night but it was great.

"Usually, you only get half a dozen in and when I went in it was packed. "Musicians, old friends of mine were there - they've all become nice friends."

Reg started performing at the pub after watching Wolverhampton artist Tommy Burton and Dave Holmes - who was the first drummer to play at The Trumpet.

Reg has played for free at the pub ever since a fateful Monday night.

He added: "Tommy Burton was playing there and I went down to hear him and then I took over when he left and in the early days I was doing everything - including painting the walls just to get it going.

"It was only three, four nights a week but when a landlord came he was determined to have jazz on every night of the week.

"It was good and I played there on Friday once a week and there's one week night - on Monday - and hardly anybody came along so I did it for nothing and I've been doing it ever since."

The 82-year old said he still couldn't make 'sense' of music, but said he played 'by ear', adding: "We had a piano at home and as a kid I used to pick out the odd tune."

Reg said he preferred 'traditional jazz' which he could sing along to.

He said: "I like traditional jazz in the style and songs as well - I like singing swing numbers.

"I sing what I can play. If I can't play it I don't sing it. I just play by ear."

Mr Keirle's other job was as a commercial artist at The Express & Star.

Reg, who was born in Waterloo Road in Wolverhampton, now lives in Redditch with his wife Linda Clement Keirle and still performs at The Trumpet every Monday night.

He said: "Every Monday night I'm there at about 9.15am until 11.15pm.

"I like beer, that's my inspiration. I like the pub, the beer and I like playing the piano - that's good enough for me."

Protect your home
from future care
home fees

Does this sound familiar to you?

"We've made our Wills, leaving everything to each other first and then to the children."

These are known as Mirror Wills. Sounds reassuring enough, doesn't it? But your children could end up with very little - or even nothing at all.

If your surviving spouse has to go into care, they will have to use their assets to pay for their care until they get down to their last £14,250. Therefore, it's not a good idea to leave your half share of the home to your surviving partner but instead leave them the USE of your share. This can be achieved by making new Property Trust Wills.

These legitimate steps must be taken while you are both alive and in reasonably good mental health. It is therefore important for couples to act NOW!

Most of our clients come to us having already made standard Mirror Wills, or they've been meaning to make a Will but simply haven't got around to it. With Property Trust Wills, yourself and your spouse/partner each leave your half share of the home to the children in Trust, but state that they are not to receive it during the lifetime of the surviving spouse/partner.

This half would then NOT be included in any future means test calculations for care fees. The surviving spouse is free to sell their share of the home, raise cash or move house. Your children are powerless to intervene but simply have to wait for their inheritance, as they would have done previously.

OUR CLIENTS SAY TO US...

"We've worked hard and saved all our lives. Why should the Local Authority get it all?"

April King Legal have prepared a jargon-free guide to protecting your hard-earned assets. Get in touch for your FREE copy today. Your details remain confidential and will never be passed to any third party.

This invaluable information guide explains why we do NOT recommend giving the house to your children during your lifetime (deliberate deprivation) or selling up and moving into an annex in their garden!

It also includes details of Lasting Power of Attorney and our special Bloodline Trust Wills which help prevent your children and grandchildren from losing their inheritance due to a child's divorce, remarriage or financial difficulties.

Listen once more with The Feeling

The Feeling will perform their celebrated million-selling album Twelve Stops And Home when they hit the road for their first tour in two years.

It's been 12 years since the acclaimed album's release and the band will headline Birmingham Town Hall on October 22.

Twelve Stops And Home – named after the Piccadilly Line journey from Leicester Square to frontman's Dan Gillespie Sells' home stop of Bounds Green – was originally released on June 5, 2006.

Despite being largely self-recorded in the garden shed of Ciaran and Kevin Jeremiah's parents' Sussex home, the album was a hit-the-ground-running masterpiece of fiercely infectious, life-affirming pop, pitched in the rainbow-coloured realm between Queen, Scissor Sisters, ELO and Supertramp.

Five of the album's songs became hit singles (Sewn, Fill My Little World, Never Be Lonely, Rose and Love It When You Call), helping the band to become the most-played act on British radio in 2006, and earning them the Ivor Novello Award for Songwriters of the Year.

Dan says: "I'm so excited to be playing with the band again. To be performing an album that has always meant so much to me is going to be quite an experience. When we recorded it we were a bunch of lads working in a shed to create the kind of music we wanted to because we were doing what musicians do"

Red Lemons singer Jim Morris and guitarist Ian Willetts

Soul with Lemon sauce

ONE of the most popular Black Country bands of the 1980s, the Red Lemon Electric Blues Band, are getting back together for another of their popular reunion concerts in the Black Country.

They will be bringing along special guests and original fans TV celebrities Adrian Chiles and Suzi Perry.

The Black Country raised sports presenters both were also briefly members of the group during the early days. Suzi, whose father Tony managed the band, used to dance on stage with the group in the 1980s and Adrian, from Hagley, was briefly the bass player.

The Red Lemon Electric Blues Band, who built up a huge local following some 30 years ago, will play their 'spiritual home' with a gig at Stourbridge Town hall on September 29.

They formed in 1985 and became a hit playing Rhythm and Blues at their own headline gigs and supporting stars like Chuck Berry and Robert Plant.

They gained fans outside the Midlands, even outside the UK, by performing at jazz and blues festivals. They played at the Royal Albert Hall as guests of Mencap and played on the bill with reggae star Desmond Dekker.

In 1991 the band was invited by Chuck Berry to be special guests on his UK tour. They also played on the same bill as Robert Plant and became regulars at Ronnie Scott's Club, when the famous London jazz venue opened a branch on Birmingham's Broad Street. Whitesnake's Bernie Marsden even guested with the band in Birmingham.

The soul and rhythm and blues group first got back together in 2015 to celebrate the 30th anniversary.

Tickets cost £24 (plus booking fee) via 0844 844 0444, online from www.ticketmaster.co.uk or from Wolverhampton Art Gallery.

Festival date sees Busted make return

They've been conspicuous by their absence during a busy summer in which every weekend seems to bring a new festival.

Rather than appearing in fields and parks across the UK, Busted have been holed up in a studio creating their fourth album.

Singer-guitarist-drummer Charlie Simpson couldn't be more excited. He still finds it remarkable that the chart-topping band, who formed in 2000, still have only three records to their name.

Busted enjoyed two million-selling records during their first incarnation; the self-titled debut, which was four times platinum, and the 2003 follow-up, A Present for Everyone, three-times platinum. There followed a 10-year hiatus following their decision to split in 2005 and since then there's been just 2016's well-received Night Driver.

Charlie says: "We've been in the studio for the past few months doing the fourth record. But we've got a headline show at Solihull Summer Fest on August 26 and we're looking forward to that. Considering the weather we've had, if it carries on, it should be a lovely afternoon. We really look forward to these shows."

Solihull Summer Fest gives Busted the chance to dust away the cobwebs. They'll line up with Razorlight, Lightning Seeds, The Beat, the Sugarhill Gang and more at Tudor Grange Park on August 26. The previous day features 10CC, Sister Sledge, Blue, Alesha Dixon and Roland Gift.

Comic Wayne joins Black Country Night Out crew

One of the longest running shows on the entertainment circuit, A Black Country Night Out, returns this autumn with the addition of a young comedian from Dudley.

Over the years it has starred some of the truly great local entertainers such as Aynuk & Ayli, Tommy Mundon, Dolly Allen and Giggetty.

VETERAN

Most recently the show lost one of its most popular acts due to the death of veteran comedian Ian 'Sludge' Lees.

Ever the professional and despite illness 'Sludge' helped pick the comic to join the cast, one of the Black Country's most popular comedians and MCs, Wayne Beese.

The heritage of the Black Country Night Out carries on with a show full of talented entertainers.

Show regulars Dandy, husband and wife duo Alan and Glyn, are back as are the band behind the Black Country Anthem, The Empty Can.

Alongside Wayne, new regular faces will include comic and former rock drummer Ollie Spencer, plus Joe Thomas singing the songs of 1940s favourite George Formby.

Tour dates include Wolverhampton Grand Theatre on September 11, Bromsgrove's Artrix on October 3, Kidderminster Rose Theatre October 11, Cannock Prince of Wales October 17 and Walsall Forest Arts Centre on November 1.

Dudley's Wayne Beese

There will be One Love for Marley man

The timeless reggae music of Bob Marley will be brought to life again when Mitchell Brunings brings Marley Reprised to Birmingham's New Alexandra Theatre on September 15 and 16.

Mitchell, who took on the leading role in Birmingham Rep's production of the Marley musical One Love last year and performed Marley Reprised 2017, is returning to Brum for a second year.

It will give fans a unique opportunity for a full evening of reggae legend Bob Marley's greatest hits, with Mitchell's soulful voice so very close to those rich Marley tones.

Due to sell out shows last year, two dates have been added for the 2018 return.

Surinam-born Brunings was catapulted into the limelight in August 2013 with his version of Marley's Redemption Son when he participated in The Voice Of Holland TV show. Nearly winning the competition as runner-up, Mitchell's YouTube videos kept him in the limelight and brought him into contact with the Marley family.

Toto recall as Rep seek a Wizard canine star

Birmingham Repertory Theatre are looking for a dog to play the role of Toto in their Christmas production of The Wizard of Oz.

Open auditions will be held at The Rep on Centenary Square on Saturday, August 25, from 10am to 5pm. The role Dorothy's canine companion is a pivotal one and The Rep is looking for a canine star to join the company. The show runs from November 24 to January 13.

The Rep is looking for two small dogs that have the enthusiasm and stamina to share the role over the seven-week run. No previous acting or stage experience is required, but good training and obedience will be. Directed by Liam Steel, this stage version of the legendary MGM musical features all the classic songs including Somewhere Over The Rainbow and If I Only Had A Brain.

If you think your dog has what it takes, email dogauditions@birmingham-rep.co.uk and attaching a picture (max size 2mb). All owners and dogs must be available for auditions on August 25 and on September 8.

The Shovel Inn, Lye, launches resident 'House Ale' - Shovelicious

Landlord Steve Hopkins is celebrating serving 2,000 different real ales at the Shovel in Lye since 2006 and launching the pub's own House Ale, Shovelicious to mark the achievement.

Steve has long wanted his 'own-branded' ale since he began displaying the pump badge depicting each ale that had been served at his pub on the Shovel's legendary 'Rale Ale' wall. (Real Ale Wall but Steve is from the Black Country)

Comment by Steve Hopkins, Owner of the Shovel in Lye:

I am absolutely delighted to achieve the amazing target of serving 2,000 different real ales at the Shovel. The highlight of my career is to specify my own beer and have it brewed for the pub especially as it is the 2001st.

I have had a close relationship with Envile Brewery since the beginning. They offer a great service and brew fantastic ales which I have served at the Shovel throughout the last 12 years so it was not difficult to ask the guys at Envile to help me out with the Shovel's own beer.

I think they have done a fabulous job and I'm sure my customers will agree. I am truly excited and proud to serve Shovelicious full time in the pub.

Comment by Jerry Hedges, Director of Envile Ales:

'Envile Ales are proud to have been asked to produce a House Ale to meet Steve's requirement. The Shovel has been a loyal customer with Envile since the brewery was established and Steve's remarkable achievement of serving 2,000 different cask ales since 2006 is testimony to his total commitment to his customers by offering them a tremendous variety of high quality cask ales served in fine condition.

We are truly humbled by being Steve's chosen partner and very proud Shovelicious is number 2,001 on his illustrious Rale Ale wall'.

About the new Beer:

Name: Shovelicious

ABV: 4.3%

Colour: Pale Amber

Style: American Pale Ale

Aroma: Zesty, Grapefruit

Tasting Notes: Stunning modern style citrusy American session pale ale packed with Citra hops to give maximum aroma and flavour without a bitter aftertaste.

Constantly evolving the Shovel with new facilities, building a new kitchen, delivering unique food offerings and looking after 27 draught beers including 12 cask brands; Steve was so busy he decided he would defer his House Ale project until he had served 2,000 different ales since his tenure at the Shovel began.

That amazing milestone has finally been reached after 12 years of scouring the cask ale market to bring his loyal customers new and exciting ales.

Steve decided to collaborate with Envile Brewery who have been regular suppliers (Envile Ale, Envile Ginger and seasonal brews) for many years. Envile set about crafting a state-of-the-art, session beer with a zesty, grapefruit aroma and citrusy hop notes without the bitter after taste many drinkers find spoils the experience. This 2001st real ale at the Shovel is finally ready and to mark the momentous achievement Steve is launching his new beer, Shovelicious, on Friday evening, August 17th where his customers will have their first chance to sample a tittle and enjoy the Shovel's infamous Street Food in a party-like atmosphere.

The party will continue all day on Saturday August 18th with more Street Food, a speciality Pimms and Prosecco Bar, plenty of Shovelicious and 26 other draught beers. On Saturday evening there will be live music from The Shaded Squares who will be performing their latest single aptly titled 'Happy Again'

Prices for Vauxhall's new Combo Life

By James Parker

Versatile, practical and spacious, Vauxhall's all-new Combo Life will arrive in showrooms next month priced from £20,530 on-the-road.

Aimed at active families and empty nesters, the Combo Life comes in two trims, Design and Energy, with Energy models available as either a five- or seven-seater.

Customers can also choose between two wheelbases: standard and XL. Its diverse powertrain portfolio includes petrol and diesels with either manual or automatic transmission.

Priced at £20,530 on-the-road, the entry-level Design 1.2-litre (110PS) Turbo Start/Stop 6-manual model features standard specification including air conditioning, DAB Radio with USB and Bluetooth audio streaming and 16-inch steel wheels with styled wheel covers.

Moving up the range, the Energy trim starts from £21,970 on-the-road for the five-seater 1.2-litre (110PS) Turbo Start/Stop 6-manual model.

A high level of standard specification includes eight-inch colour touchscreen infotainment system, 16-inch alloy wheels and front and rear parking sensors.

If you need space for more passengers, the Energy seven-seater starts from £22,530 on-the-road for the 1.2-litre (110PS) Turbo Start/Stop 6-manual model. A high level of standard specification includes 35/30/35 split-folding second-row seats with fold-flat facility, two removable third-row seats and two foldable tables with cup-holders.

Combo Life customers can choose between a variety of turbo-charged, direct injection petrol and diesel engines, all of which combine driving pleasure with low CO2 emissions from 111g/km and fuel economy up to 67.3mpg.

All powertrains meet the stringent Euro 6d-TEMP emissions standard that comes into force for all new registrations from September 2019. The units will be combined with modern five- and six-speed manual transmission.

In addition, in a segment first, a low-friction eight-speed automatic with Quickshift technology can be ordered in combination with the top-of-the-range 1.5-litre (130PS) diesel.

Elsewhere, the new Combo Life is full of innovations that makes it a great choice for the whole family. It is equipped with two rear sliding doors and can be ordered as a five- or seven-seater, making it perfect for those needing plenty of room for people and luggage, such as a small sports team and their equipment.

The latest addition to the Vauxhall range makes longer trips more comfortable and enjoyable for the whole family, thanks to three individual rear seats, all with ISOFIX child seat brackets, and the optional panoramic glass roof. The Combo Life raises the bar for safety and comfort in this segment. It is fitted with technologies and driver assistance systems that are more commonly seen in the compact or SUV segments, such as Driver Drowsiness Alert, Rear View Camera with 180° bird's-eye view, Head-up display, and IntelliGrip, as well as improved comfort features such as heated seats and a heated steering wheel.

Now in range.

Vignale – luxury version of multi award-winning Fiesta

By Carmel Stewart

The Fiesta supermini has been the envy of many a manufacturer over the years and rightly so.

It has held on to its top spot in the annual small hatchback sales tussle and has won multiple awards, into the bargain.

In addition, it is powered by an unbeatable 1.0 litre EcoBoost engine which has won the International Engine of the Year award five times in a row. How can things get any better?

Step up the ultra-posh Vignale – not so much a trim level more an upmarket buying experience is the gist of Ford's marketing.

First introduced on the Ford Mondeo, swiftly followed by the S-Max, the Kuga and the Edge, the Vignale badging adds a new look to every model it touches, along with an almost overwhelming hi-tech, top spec list of additions and luxury touches.

Outside, the Fiesta Vignale is Frozen White in colour, has 17-inch alloys, a specially designed front grille, Vignale bumpers front and rear, Vignale badging, a rear diffuser and a panoramic sunroof.

Inside, there are extremely comfortable hexagonal-quilted, tuxedo-stitched heated leather seats, a three-spoke heated leather steering wheel, Vignale badged door sills and Vignale badged floor mats.

Hi-tech additions and luxury touches

Ford is pretty certain the seats will remain comfortable for the lifetime of the car thanks to its mechanical 'Robot Buttocks' which apparently sat on the seats 25,000 times to prove their durability.

Safety features include a rear-view camera with rear parking sensors.

Fork out an additional £200 and Ford will fit front parking sensors and a delicious piece of stress busting kit – automatic park assist which not only alerts the driver to a suitable parking space but also reverses the car into it.

In-car entertainment is well covered by the 10 speaker B&O Play system, the Apple CarPlay and Android Auto connectivity, and the eight-inch touch screen with voice control.

Buyers have the choice of two engines – the excellent 1.0 litre EcoBoost petrol with 100ps, 125ps, 140ps, or the 1.5litre 120ps diesel.

Best for economy will be the diesel at an average 65.7mpg.

The petrol unit will return between 57mpg and 60mpg depending on output and wheel size. Opting for the excellent automatic transmission will cause a dip in economy, taking it down to 49.6mpg.

On the road the Fiesta is still as feisty and fun as it ever was. This latest model, regardless of trim, has sharper steering, new suspension and revised torque vectoring control, making it even more composed and confident.

The Vignale effect includes a dedicated salesperson – sorry, relationship manager – a special Vignale area of the showroom and 24-hour support for buyers who will be fetched and carried from home or work when a service is due.

But all this fun and luxury comes at a price. The entry-level Fiesta Style trim will set you back £13,715. The least you can expect to pay for the Vignale is £20,365.

Opt for the five-door automatic and you are looking at £21,845.

For some, the comprehensive spec list and undeniable pampering will be well worth the extra. For the rest of us there is the standard model with the same great engines, flexible ride and smile inducing handling.

The Vignale badging adds a new look to every model it touches

Lexus LC Limited Edition revealed – and it's bright!

The bodywork is finished in an eye-catching Naples Yellow paint colour

Japanese car manufacturers are renowned for a love of making special-edition machinery, and Lexus is the latest to introduce another to its line-up with this – the aptly named Lexus LC Limited Edition.

There's a yellow theme for this variant of the sports car, which was first introduced in 2017. The bodywork is finished in an eye-catching Naples Yellow paint colour, which continues to the cabin – where the black door panels feature yellow Alcantara inserts.

Yellow stitching features on the white leather seats, instrument panel, steering wheel and centre too, while the headliner is furnished with Alcantara.

As for technology, Limited Edition buyers can expect a head-up display, 10-way power adjustment for the front seats and a 13-speaker Mark Levinson audio system for no extra cost.

Completing the package is a set of 21-inch alloy wheels, with the Lexus LC Limited Edition available with two powertrains.

The first is a 3.5-litre V6 hybrid powertrain with 472bhp and 648Nm of torque, making the coupe capable of 0-60mph in 4.5 seconds before hitting a 155mph top speed.

There's also a naturally-aspirated 5.0-litre V8 variant, producing 470bhp and 540Nm of torque. The result is an identical 0-60mph time and top speed to the hybrid.

No official word yet on how many units of the Lexus LC Limited Edition will be coming to the UK, nor how much it will cost, but order books are set to open in November. Expect to hear more news following the car's public debut at the Paris Motor Show in October.

Les Davies, Roy Bradley and Ian Garvey who represented their club in major championships

70 – but racketball ace Ian plans to carry on

IAN GARVEY continues to prove that age is no barrier to sporting success.

The 70-year-old racketball ace has just added another national title to his sizeable list of achievements – nearly 50 years after being advised not to play sport.

A serious knee injury curtailed Garvey's footballing days when he was in his mid-20s and, according to a doctor, should have meant an end to any strenuous physical activity.

But Garvey, from Stourbridge, had other ideas and decided to take to the squash courts for his sporting fix. A series of operations over the years on his knees, hip and shoulder, have failed to slow the Norton resident down with racketball taking over from squash as his number one sport.

And the sprightly septuagenarian shows no signs of calling it a day on the courts just yet, having been crowned champion in the over-70s category at the National Squash 57, the new term for racketball, Championships at the Edgbaston Priory Club.

Prepare

The victory was all the more remarkable as Garvey had not participated in the nationals since 2008, and underwent major hip surgery in 2009 and a full shoulder reconstruction in 2012.

And Garvey, who has now won 19 national racketball titles, believes this is his greatest victory to date.

"I think this is my best achievement yet, having not figured in the nationals for a long time," he said.

"I had said I was going to call it a day because I have had operations on my hip and shoulder, and my knees are feeling the strain a bit. But I'm going to carry on playing. My wife, Carol, is a bit worried about me playing at my age but I still enjoy it and it keeps me fit and active."

Garvey enjoyed 3-0 victories over John Shingler (Priory) and John Hopkins (Solihull) in the quarter and semi-finals respectively to earn a shootout for silverware with the number one seed, Leicester's Hans Bilson. The final was a very tight 50-minute encounter with Garvey battling through to win 3-1 (9-11, 12-10, 11-8, 11-5).

"I won the over-70s competition at my club, Stourbridge Lawn Tennis & Squash Club, earlier in the year and I think that helped prepare me for the nationals," added Garvey.

"I smashed my knee up playing football, I damaged my cruciate ligament, and I was told not to play sport. I have had a few operations on my knees but they have held up over the years"

He has been a member at the Stourbridge club for more than 40 years and played county squash before turning to racketball in the late eighties.

He plays a couple times a week in the afternoon leagues which are open age affairs and see him pitted against younger opponents.

"I played squash until I was about 35 and have been playing racketball since then," said the semi-retired asset finance broker.

"I play in the afternoon league at the club each week. I have managed to win that for the last four years so I am there to be shot at now, I suppose!

"It's open age so I can be up against players who are a bit younger than me. But that doesn't bother me, I don't think about the age, and the experience I have helps."

The latest trophy will take pride of place in a huge collection. Since taking up the sport he has also claimed national glory twice in the over-40s category, four times at over-45, once at over-50, and a double success at over-55.

In addition to his single successes, he has also bagged one men's open doubles title and four over-45s doubles wins. And he has been a national finalist on another eight occasions in various singles and doubles events.

"I have won a few titles and I suppose it's not too bad considering I was advised not to play sport again in my mid-20s," he said.

"I smashed my knee up playing football, I damaged my cruciate ligament, and I was told not to play sport. But I started to play squash in my late 20s. I have had a few operations on my knees but they have held up over the years."

"I played in the Birmingham League when I lived in Halesowen and then joined Stourbridge when we moved to Norton in the late 70s."

Not surprisingly, Garvey was also a hit on the squash court where he helped Stourbridge win 11 Worcestershire League titles and five cups while he went through one season with a perfect record of 16 wins from 16 games.

He then turned his attentions to racketball and captained the club to nine West Midlands League Division One successes between 1993 and 2002, doubling five of those wins up with the cup for good measure. Amazingly he lost just one game in those 10 seasons.

And with Garvey showing no sign of easing up, he is delighted to see a boom in the sport he loves.

Leagues

"There are quite a lot of people playing the sport now," he said. "The racket and ball are bigger than those you use in squash and it's probably a bit easier to play."

"At our club, we have winter and summer leagues and there are about 15 divisions in each, so the sport is becoming really popular."

Sport is very much a part of the Garvey family make-up.

"My dad, Geoff, played alongside the great Wolves player and manager Stan Cullis in various war-time matches in the 40s," said Garvey.

"I have got programmes from games he played at Craven Cottage and Stamford Bridge and he played with numerous professionals."

"My son Mark was a goalkeeper and he played for Stourbridge and Halesowen. And my grandson Ryan is also a goalkeeper and is just starting out with Cookley."

"Sport runs in the family and hopefully I will carry playing for a few more years yet."

Another win for Ian Garvey who has a wealth of trophies

Gavin, the former Commonwealth and British Champion takes on Kerman Lejarra in the Spaniard's back yard of Bilbao on November 17. Gavin is determined to bring home the European title, and, the 32-year-old will take part in the warm-up bout in his home city as he steps up his campaign.

The five-fight dinner show will also feature Gavin's stablemate Brad 'Bosh' Thomas, and Central Area heavyweight champion, Kash Ali, as well as Walsall super welterweight Levi Ferguson.

Masters degree for former Wolves player

FORMER Wolves player Seyi Olofinjana has been awarded a Masters of Sport Directorship (MSD) by Manchester Metropolitan University Business School.

Former Nigeria international Olofinjana, a coach with Scott Sellars' Under 23s side at Molineux, played for Wolves for four years until 2008. He is one of only the second group of prominent sports and business people to be awarded the masters degree. These included former Warwickshire and England cricketer Ashley Giles and former Albion footballer Michael Appleton.

Olofinjana said: "Over a fascinating and challenging journey studying for the MSD we have covered a wide range of topics including leadership, management, and innovation as well as sports governance. A focus on managing staff and athletes looked in depth at achieving the highest level of performance and success. All of this will undoubtedly prove invaluable in my role coaching young people at Wolves."

Young golfers tee up place in national final

TWO West Midland golfers have qualified for the national final of the American Golf Junior Championship.

The Chase Golf Club's Chloe Williamson and Enville Golf Club's Ewan Humphries will participate in the event October, covered on Sky Sports.

Williamson progressed after an outstanding performance in the qualifier at High Leigh Park Golf Club, Cheshire, and, despite entering the competition to 'gain experience for future competitions', she finished in second place after a strong back nine holes.

Humphries, from Stourbridge, had an equally as impressive showing at Gaudet Luce Golf Club, Droitwich, winning the upper net category by scoring 31 points off a handicap of 36.

Both Williamson and Humphries will play in the UK & Ireland final at Gainsborough Golf Club, sponsored by Ping. John Clark, managing director of Ping Europe, said: "We're delighted to be continuing our partnership with American Golf and being part of this fantastic event yet again."

Late Hughes effort breaks down visitors

Halesowen Town 1 Lowestoft Town 0 YELTZ got off to a winning start on Saturday, thanks to a late Lee Hughes penalty against an unlucky Lowestoft side.

The youthful Trawler Boys were beaten with just two minutes remaining when James Roberts was brought down in the penalty area by goalkeeper Elvijs Putnins and Hughes stroked home the resulting penalty. Home goalkeeper Dan Platt made a good fingertip save to deny substitute Kieron Higgs a deserved equaliser deep in stoppage time.

The visitors soon settled to play some neat football and an 18th minute long throw-in from Connor Deeks into the Yeltz penalty area caused danger. For Halesowen, Ahmed Ali headed into the arms of Putnins after 25 minutes.

The visitors went close on 32 minutes after Matt Brown played a long ball out of defence and play was allowed to continue from Asa Charlton's infringement on the edge of the penalty area, allowing Jacek Zielonka to cross for Shaun Bam-mant to head a good chance over the bar.

Immediately after the interval Bam-mant and Connor Ingram went close as the Trawler Boys enjoyed much the better of the second half. Zielonka's clever 68th minute corner was met by his captain Adam Smith on the edge of the area, only for Dan Platt to make a flying save. Platt then kept out a low shot from Deeks at the foot of his post and Smith hit over the bar in the 70th minute.

Lowestoft continued to be the better team as an 82nd minute cross flew right along the home goal-line.

Stour and Hales are DLS winners as weather hits play

HALESOWEN edged home in the Birmingham League division one thanks to the Duckworth-Lewis System. A patchy Bromsgrove batting effort saw them restricted to 177-9 in 50 overs with Halesowen seamer Charlie Hartley taking 3-43. The game was halted by rain with Halesowen on 150-1 after 33 overs, which left them easy winners by 63 runs after Jamie Harris hit an unbeaten 75.

Himley struggled with the bat against Bridgnorth, and it required an unbeaten 41 from Arunveer Bhogal to take them to 157 all out in the 48th over. David Laird (3-24) was the most successful bowler for Bridgnorth, who eased themselves up the table, thanks to 47 from Adam Quiney and 43 from Worcestershire seamer Charlie Morris.

In the third division, an unbroken fifth wicket stand of 109 between Matt Bradley (88 not out) and Josh Banks (67 not out) took Stourbridge to 231-4 from 50 overs before reducing visitors Old Hill to 67-5 from 27 overs, when rain stopped play. With the players unable to resume, Stourbridge were winners by 69 runs, courtesy of DLS.

Andy Poole's a head to win trophy

Andy Poole receives the trophy from Derek Brookes

AN excellent night's bowling on an uncompromising Wernley green saw Andy Poole from Cradley Sports lift the Dudley League Merit with a nail-biting final win against Nathan Dawes of Dudley Dell, 21-20.

The final was level throughout with both bowlers playing some exceptional ends. Dawes looked to have a clear advantage when 19-16 up and then 20-18 up, but Poole came through with some great pressure bowls.

STAFFORDSHIRE VETERANS won the British County Bowls Championships on a tricky green in North-wich, Cheshire.

Staffs were joined by teams from Merseyside, Greater Manchester and Derbyshire as the final four played off in a round robin format to crown the champions. After the first two rounds, each team had won one match, so all depended on the final round, which saw Staffs taking on Merseyside.

The lead switched throughout the last two games with each of the four sides capable of lifting the trophy at one point or another.

But Staffs ran out eventual winners as both Steve Davis and John Corbett provided early 21-9 wins to put Staffordshire in the driving seat.

Fast Bacon first home in Hammer

BIRMINGHAM skipper Tom Bacon stormed to a 15-point maximum as he won Cradley's F.A.S.T Golden Hammer individual.

It was a keenly fought contest at Mon-more Green which went down to the final set of heats.

Both Bacon and former Heathens' favourite Danny Ayres had made a series of impressive gates to win all four of their opening rides before meeting in Heat 18. And while Ayres made the best gate in that one, the Brummies man showed no fear to squeeze through a gap around the outside off bend number two to send the Perry Barr fans home happy.

Said Bacon: "I was really looking forward to the meeting in the build-up and I knew it wasn't going to be easy."

"There were a lot of fast guys out there and fortunately I made some really quick starts. It was tight with Danny in that last one but I managed to get through and I knew that was enough to win the meeting."

"I'm absolutely delighted to join such a brilliant list of names who've won this event in years gone by and this is an achievement I'm proud of."

"I feel like I've made plenty of progression and coming out on top in a line-up as strong as this shows that I guess."

2018 F.A.S.T Golden Hammer: Tom Bacon 15, Danny Ayres 14, Max Clegg 12 (on countback), Tom Perry 12, Drew Kemp 11, Ben Morley 10, Tom Brennan 9, Kyle Bickley 6, Luke Harris 6, Jason Edwards 6, Alfie Bowlte 5, Danny Phillips 5, Connor Coles 4, Rob Shuttleworth 3, David Wallinger 2, Luke Ruddick 0, James Chattin (res) 0.

Oar-some feat by rowing club pair

DUDLEY Rowing Club are creating history this weekend by entering their first ever Regatta.

Sophie Glazzard and Ben Nolan are entering the Junior Fifteen Single Sculls at Warwick Regatta, held on the River Avon with the backdrop of the castle.

The youngsters have been training at their base, Dudley Watersports Centre, and also on the River Severn at Bridgnorth, thanks to the help of Bridgnorth Rowing Club and secretary Sam Butler, who are helping by allowing them to use their boats and facilities, in order to give them experience rowing in fine boats on a good stretch of water.

TRIPLE SALVO FIRES STOUR

Stourbridge 3 Stratford 0
GOALS from Aaron Hayden, Greg Mills and Leon Broadhurst helped Glassboys to their first win of the season on Monday night.

Hayden headed home from a Mills corner to break the deadlock after 10 minutes.

Mills again had a hand in the second just seven minutes later, scored by Broadhurst after Luke Benbow's effort had been kept out. It was three just after the half-hour mark, with Mills this time providing the finish with a curling effort.

Glassboys kicked off their season with a point earned two minutes from time at Barwell on Saturday.

A penalty from Luke Benbow earned a share of the spoils after the striker had gone down in the area. He got up to take the kick himself after Leon Broadhurst saw an earlier kick saved. Brady Hickey set up the Barwell opener for Massiah McDonald on 42 minutes.

Stourbridge were awarded their first penalty on 48 minutes when new signing Mills went down in the box but Broadhurst saw his shot saved.

But Benbow made no mistake from the second spot-kick when he was brought down on 88, keeping his cool after a delay in which Hickey was sent off for a second bookable offence.

The Glassboys are at home again on Saturday when Rushden & Diamonds visit Amblecote.

Stourbridge FC faced the cameras for their annual team photo ahead of the new season and to launch their new Adidas-designed away kit for this season. They will be sporting a yellow shirt with white trim, blue shorts and white socks as modelled by Stuart Pierpoint.

Valiant veterans stroll to finals

Nail-biting victory with Hartshill Strollers now set for the national finals

DUDLEY'S Hartshill Strollers have won through to the national finals of walking football's top trophy.

The club's Over 65s team, based at Summerhill School in Kingswinford, beat Nottingham-based Bramcote WFC 3-2 in the competition's regional final.

The super-veterans will now go on to the Grand Finals on Sunday, September 30. The venue has yet to be announced. The WFA National Cup is walking football's most prestigious tournament, equivalent to the FA Cup, and involves clubs from all over the country.

Hartshill's Over 60s team won the trophy in 2016. This year's 65plus regional clash was a nail-biting affair. Bob Haywood, Hartshill's manager, said: "It was a tough match. Our tenacity and team spirit won through."
